About the Wine

The ever popular pairing of Semillon and Chardonnay goes from strength to strength.

An attractive balanced wine with delicate oaking and a fresh clean acidity. Pale straw in colour and has classic peach and melon aromas. The palate displays flavours of tropical fruit combined with the subtle integrated oak.

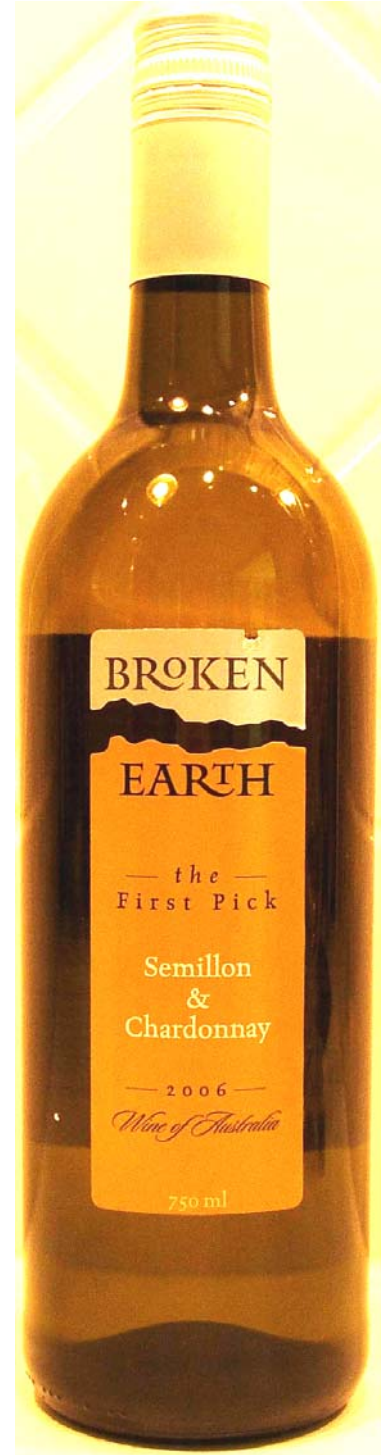

Location of the Winery

Where the Vine likes to live

These vineyards are in the heart of the Murray-Darling Basin, which is Australia's most important wine grape growing area. The region has a low incidence of vine pests and diseases. It also has the lowest annual rainfall of any major wine growing area in Australia. Tandou currently produces Chardonnay, Verdelho, Viognier, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Shiraz and Sangiovese grape varieties.
